Solemn Closing of Forty Hours Tonight

We Announce

Solemn Closing of Forty Hours tonight, at 7 o'clock.

Fr. Coughlin's broadcast may be heard today over WJR at 12:45 p. m.; over WJBK at 4 p. m., and over WMBC at 9 p. m.

The Month Mind Mass for Bishop Gallagher will be chanted tomorrow, November 20, at 8 o'clock.

The Shrine's annual Thanksgiving Party will be held at Northwood Inn, tomorrow night, 8:30 p. m.

Novena services in honor of the Little Flower begin at 7:45 o'clock, Thursday night.

The Information Class will be conducted Friday night, at 8 o'clock. The Mass will be explained.

Discussion of Social And Economic Problems Combined With Novena

Fr. Coughlin has inaugurated a new series of discussions on social and economic problems from the Christian viewpoint.

These discussions will be held every Thursday evening except Thanksgiving.

A short novena service in honor of the Little Flower will be conducted at 7:45 o'clock, and immediately following, Fr. Coughlin will discuss phases of the economic and social problems that are vital today.

Included in the program is a question period, when Fr. Coughlin will answer questions that have been written out and collected by the ushers.

Calendar of the Week

Mon., Nov. 20—St. Felix.
Tues., Nov. 21—Presentation of the Blessed Virgin.
Wed., Nov. 22—St. Cecelia.
Thurs., Nov. 23—St. Clement.
Fri., Nov. 24—St. John of the Cross.
Sat., Nov. 25—St. Catherine.

A Thanksgiving Prayer

(The Canticle of the Sun)

Most high, omnipotent, good Lord,
Praise, glory and honor and benediction all, are Thine.
To Thee alone do they belong, Most High,
And there is no man fit to mention Thee.
Praise be to Thee, my Lord, with all Thy creatures, Especially to my worshipful Brother Sun,
The which lights up the day, and through Him dost Thou brightness give;
And beautiful is he and radiant with splendor great;
Of Thee, Most High, signification gives.
Praised be my Lord, for Sister Moon and for the Stars,
In heaven Thou hast formed them clear and precious and fair.
Praised be my Lord for Brother Wind
And for the air and clouds and fair and every kind of weather,
By the which Thou givest to Thy creatures nourishment.
Praised be my Lord for Sister Water,
The which is greatly helpful and humble and precious and pure.
Praised be my Lord for Brother Fire,
By the which Thou lightest up the dark.
And fair is he and gay and mighty and strong.
Praised be my Lord for our Sister, Mother Earth,
The which sustains and keeps us
And brings forth diverse fruits with grass and flowers bright.
Praised be my Lord for those who for Thy love forgive.
And weakness bear and tribulation.
Blessed those who shall in peace endure,
For by Thee, Most High, shall they be crowned.
Praised be my Lord for our Sister, the bodily Death,
From the which no living man can flee.
Woe to them who die in mortal sin;
Blessed are those who shall find themselves in Thy most holy will,
For the second death shall do them no ill.
Praise ye and bless ye my Lord, and give Him thanks,
And be subject unto Him with great humility. Amen.

St. Francis of Assisi.

The Mass Demonstrated

Information Class Program

On Friday night, November 24, at 8 p. m., the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be explained by actual demonstration.

The meaning of the altar, of its appurtenances, of each and every action of the celebrant will all be unfolded by one priest as another portrays the ceremonies of the Mass. Such an explanation is always most interesting as well as highly enlightening.

This demonstration of the Mass and vestments and utensils of divine worship is open to all Catholics as well as non-Catholics.

In fact, it will afford the ordinary Catholic an excellent means of refreshing his mind with the sublime mysteries of the Mass that he may have forgotten or never known.

Feasts of The Week

November 20

St. Felix of Valois belonged to the royal family of France and distinguished himself as a child by his compassion for those in trouble. Wishing to put aside any claim to the throne, he renounced all he possessed, and together with St. John of Matha, he founded the Order of the Most Holy Trinity for the ransom of captives. They were ready to suffer hunger and thirst and all sorts of ill treatment to free their brethren in Christ from the hands of the infamous Turks. St. Felix died in 1212.

November 21

The feast of the Presentation of Mary derives from the ancient story which relates that the Blessed Virgin was presented in the Temple at Jerusalem when three years old, and that she lived there with other girls

Every Parishioner To Be Present

At 7 o'clock tonight the forty-hour period of homage to Christ, our "God with us" and our King, will be brought to a solemn close with sacred pageantry, the like of which has never been witnessed at the Shrine.

All the beauty of the Church's liturgy for the occasion will be presented. The children of the parish will take part in the procession and sing as only they can sing.

The closing of Forty Hours is always the most fitting time for the demonstration of our belief in the

Thanksgiving Day

Masses at 6:30, 7:30, and 8 o'clock.

Solemn High Mass of Thanksgiving for the parish at 9 o'clock.

Real Presence, amongst us, of Christ, true God and true man.

In fact, each hour of the Forty Hours presents this same opportunity, but the closing is traditionally one final solemn, overwhelming act of faith and homage, by which we attempt to render adequate thanks for such a tremendous Gift. But always we must fall far short of the Reality, that God is.

The solemn closing of Forty Hours, therefore, is an affair that concerns each and every member of the parish. Only the greatest necessity should prevent one from attending.

Fish on Friday, by Leonard Feeney, S. J.

In Fish on Friday we have the humor and pathos of Catholicism developed in such a charming manner, that no one will be able to resist these fascinating sketches.

Proverbially it is said that fish is a brain food, but, as Father Feeney ably puts it, there are other foods, equally as good for the brain, which can and should be enjoyed with great relish.

It is hard to select from these fourteen essays one that might be called the best. Every sketch is almost perfect in the picture it presents.

Take for instance the chapter "My Little Minister," a sketch of a Catholic priest and a Protestant minister who were wont to go for research work to the public library.

For weeks "Intolerance" and "Heresy" shared the same reference table; for weeks the one would glare at the black shirt-front and the other would glare at the red mustache; for weeks neither spoke but watched the other in the reflection of the window pane as they studied.
 Then one day the librarian came to them with a folder of ecclesiastical drawings and said, "Here, this ought to interest you two." "You two" were the magic words that cemented a friendship that withstood many hours of pinochle and arguments.

We have in the "Madonna of the Kitchen" a portrait of a Polish peasant woman who sees nothing extraordinary in caring for six children fathered by a man ten years her senior, whose very language she did not understand and with whom she never fell in love; rather she had always been loving something like him. It was in her chase of a little pink-eyed rabbit that she ran into a dark-eyed man. Katie is one of those wonderful women who would always be poor and have children—she would think it unbearable to be poor and have none. She is a splendid and valuable member of society.

Then there is the stirring, heartrendering story of Dorothy Burke.
 "The Queen of Hearts." She was forty and had beautiful blue eyes, and, since that seemed to be her only claim to beauty, she cherished them above all else. And when she lost the sight of one eye, there was nothing left for her in life.

There are just fair examples of the variety and character of these essays. To reveal others would be to rob the reader of the pleasure he is sure to experience once he begins to indulge in Fish on Friday.

and the holy women who had them in their care, devoting themselves to the service of God.

November 22

St. Cecilia, of the illustrious family of the Coecillii, was born at Rome. As a child, she consecrated her virginity to God. When she was forced to marry Valerian, a young pagan, she prevailed upon him to protect her vow. He and his brother, Tiburtius, having been thus brought to a knowledge of the Faith, sealed their confession of Christ with their blood. Not long after, St. Cecilia was violently put to death in her own home by the axe, after an attempt to suffocate her had failed by God's intervention. This was about A. D. 230. Her body was discovered in 1599 just as it was at the moment of her death. Her home was transformed into a church where the body still lies. Because the prayer of the Church on her feast day says, "At the sound of musical instruments the virgin Cecilia sang to God in her heart," she has been chosen the patroness of musicians.

November 23

St. Clement, Pope and martyr, was the third successor of St. Peter. He was the author of one of the most precious writings of the earliest Christian centuries, his letter to the Corinthians, written about A. D. 97. He is said to have been banished to Cheronese during Trajan's persecution and there to have won the glorious crown of martyrdom, having been cast into the sea with an anchor attached to his neck.

November 24

The father of St. John was disowned by his kindred for marrying a poor orphan. Thus born and nurtured in poverty, St. John of the Cross, chose it for his portion, and became the servant of the poor in the hospital of Medina. Ordained a priest in the Carmelite Order, he set about reforming it, although he accomplished his end only in the face of much opposition. Because of his brilliancy in explaining the divine mysteries, he was declared a Doctor of the Church. Struck down by a cruel disease, he died embracing Jesus crucified and exclaiming: "Glory to God." This was in 1591.

November 25

St. Catherines was born at Alexandria. Having from youth combined the study of the liberal arts with the ardor of faith, she soon rose to high perfection both in doctrine and in holiness, and at the age of 18 surpassed the most learned. She rebuked the Emperor Maximian for tormenting the Christians, and he, filled with admiration for her learning, assembled from all parts the most learned men, to bring her over from the faith of Jesus to the worship of idols. But the contrary happened, for several were converted to Christianity by the cogency of her arguments.

Maximian then ordered her to be scourged with a birch and with whips lined with lead. Then he had her tied to wheels armed with sharp swords. But the machine broke down and the tyrant caused her to be beheaded. She died about A. D. 305.

The New Day

You are beginning a new day. You are to return to the world where you have often gone astray. You are meeting old and new temptations.

You have the occasion to strengthen your weakened character.

You are to be trusted again with neglected opportunities.

You are to influence the minds of others.

You are to help in the molding of characters.

You are to assist others in the deciding of happiness for their present and future life.

What a priceless gift! A New Day. Yet, how uncertain. What lies

After a Retreat

What hast thou learned today? Hast thou sounded awful mysteries, Hast pierced the veiled skies, Climbed to the feet of God, Trodden where saints have trod, Fathomed the heights above?

Nay

This only have I learned, that God is love.

What hast thou heard today? The pinions of the Angel-trumpets cry. And rippling harps reply; Heard from the Throne of flame Whence God incarnate came Some thund'rous message roll?

Nay

This I have heard, His voice within my soul.

What hast thou felt today? The pinions of the Angel-guide That standeth at thy side In rapturous ardours beat, Glowing from head to feet, In ecstasy divine?

Nay

This only have I felt, Christ's hand in mine.

—Robert Hugh Benson.

before you? It may be your last day! At least you know it has brought you a day nearer your death and judgment.

How important it is that you seek God's Almighty and wise council, ask His blessings, implore His grace, beg His protection against temptations.

Down on your knees!

"... Hallowed be Thy name; ... and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil."

If anyone is interested in assisting the ladies of the Shrine Chapter in their Christmas sale of handiwork, please call Mrs. Arthur Tamm, R. O. 1504.

Fr. Coughlin is anxious that the Holy Name Society expand and become more active in the cause of Christ.

Now that the tourist season is past, the church doors are being closed earlier in the evening, except when services are held at night.

Benefit Party for Duns Scotus College

The Friends of Duns Scotus are giving their annual Thanksgiving party for the benefit of the College on Sunday, November 19, at 3 p. m. The place is the College auditorium at Nine Mile and Evergreen.

Various games will be played, with turkeys and chickens, as the prizes. A tasty supper will also be served.

Wasted Time

Horace Walpole (writing in 1791 to Miss Berry), speaks of the Duchess of Gordon's "Busy Day":

"She first went to hear Handel's music in the abbey; she then clambered over the benches and attended Hasting's trial in the hall; after dinner to the play; then to Lady Lucan's assembly; after that — returned to Mr. Hobart's faro table, gave a ball herself the evening of that morning, in which she must have got a good way; and set out for Scotland the next day."

The names of people and places change.

But we are the same human beings.

What a lot of running back and forth we do, and to no purpose.

Fruitless days.

Wasted time.

This is not living our lives!

There is only one way to make life worth while.

There is only one way in which to live.

There is only one answer to the riddle of life.

You will find it in the Catechism. It is this:

"God made me to know Him, to love Him, to serve Him in this world, and to be happy with Him forever in the next."

Shrine Chapter News

Fr. Coughlin is extremely pleased with the work of the Shrine Chapter of the Radio League. He is very grateful for the assistance both moral and financial that has so generously been given. It is his earnest desire and plan that this work grow and expand.

A four day Christmas sale of gifts will be held by the ladies of the Shrine Chapter in December, the location and date of the sale to be announced later. All unit members are kindly requested to start now preparing articles that their own ingenuity may inspire for this sale.

The regular monthly meeting will be held on Monday evening, November 27, in the Shrine School. The unit captains are kindly asked to contact the individual members, in order that a large attendance will be present at this meeting when the final arrangements for the Christmas sale will be made.

On Tuesday afternoon, November 21, at 1 o'clock, there will be a meeting for Units 5 and 10 at the home of Mrs. J. Kramer, 1526 N. Washington avenue. The afternoon will be spent in sewing articles for the Christmas sale. Donations of materials to be used for aprons and children's dresses will be welcomed by this group. Assisting Mrs. Kramer will be Mrs. Chas. Fontaine, Mrs. Peter Martin, and Mrs. S. J. Lucier.
