Shrine Stakes – A Run for the Little Flower

Inadvertently, we forgot that the Webers also purchased a fine, pinewood steed and will be competing on Saturday, February 4th. The race itself is open to the public and our admission of $5.00 per person covers admission, program and two complimentary beverages (beer, wine and soft drinks or coffee and tea). We also have the High School and Grade School Moms along with our own Ladies Guild providing an all night hors d'oeuvres' table that evening. You don't have to own a horse to join us.

Persons attending will have a chance to be on their favorite horse or jockey and since our pinewood steeds have not established any handicaps, we will be using a scratch paramutual betting system. The minimum bet per horse/race is $2.00. We will be paying off on the winning horse only, during

80's

Counting In Decades

To the chagrin of some Sisters of Charity of Cincinnati the 1980's is being called the decade of the 49'ers. There are other titles for the 80's to help us consider more important realities. One title is the Decade of the Family, promoted by the U.S. Bishop's Conference. Another is the Decade of Youth, a United Nations emphasis.

To name a decade in this way is not to look back on it but to set goals and challenges. Certainly, the goals and challenges of family life and of youth are with us in every age.

It was good to have Shrine as the site for a meeting last Monday on foster parenting. That same day, of course, there was great attention paid in public demonstration, presidential telephoning, and prayer to legalized abortion and Roe vs. Wade. Foster parenting is another necessary aspect of the whole issue.

In an unrelated conversation just the day before, one of the parishioners talked to me about her own fostering hopes and of possibly fostering hard to place children. What a blessing!

Three youth items, among many, come to my attention.

First, this is Catholic Schools' Week, January 28th through February 5th. Certainly, the work of the church and of Shrine parish has long engaged youth in a personal relationship with Jesus, and in intellectual foundations for a life of faith.

Second, last Sunday's brunch with parents of teens involved in our parish youth ministry was a delightful experience.

Third, some Shrine statistics indicate the youthful age of parish members. We hope such numbers will help us even more in our planning.

MUNICH MYSTERY PLAYS
DIRECTED BY ERNST JURINA*MYSTERY OF THE HOLY MASS

This mystery play is a special type of theatre; its content and thrust are strictly religious. It dramatizes Christ's PASSION, DEATH, RESURRECTION AND ASCENSION. The main principle behind the play is Christ's command: "DO THIS IN REMEMBRANCE OF ME."

The character of Wisdom says "So many Christians go to Mass year in, year out, and understood but very little of it in the end."

You will leave this mystery play, as many thousands of others who have seen it...with a deeper and fuller awareness of its great value, it is in its deepest sense, no longer theatre, but an introduction to the religious truths hidden in the sacraments and liturgy.

THE DIRECTOR

In 1949, Ernst Jurina and his wife, Brigitte, left the Munich Theatre and founded "THE MUNICH MYSTERY PLAYS." From that moment on the Jurinas dedicated their efforts to the single task of performing mystery plays by Calderon.

During the past few years, they have presented the English adaption of the play in various dioceses of the United States.

THE AUTHOR

This plot was written 300 years ago by Calderon de la Barca who became a priest only at the age of 52, and lived in Madrid from 1600 - 1681. Of the 70 mystery plays he wrote, the "Mystery of the Holy Mass" is his most significant. In this play, Calderon shows the Mass from the viewpoint of the Bible and of history. The play demonstrates that the essentials of the Mass have remained the same through the centuries, even in our use of liturgical renewal.

Wayne States Universally

Generally speaking, when the weather is mentioned within the context of a conversation it is referred to as small talk. It's just something to either begin the conversation, or to take up some time until we can think of something else that is of greater significance.

Yet, the weather is more than something of little importance. Remember the dry, hot summer of last year? Although we received the much needed rain (in November), and by looking at the near normal level on the annual index of precipitation, one would think that things are normal.

This past week, the forecasters have been overjoyed in telling us of the warm weather that has been coming our way. They give the viewing audience the impression that everything is just wonderful.

Unfortunately this is not the case. Our climate over the past few years has been much warmer than it should be. We have not had a good hard winter since 1978. The last three summers have been hot and dry. Indications are that this coming summer will be a repeat of last year.

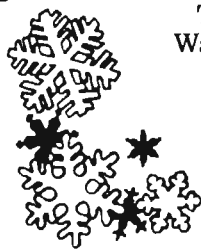

The farmers are saying that the winter has produced as much moisture as last summer. Although it means that they can get the tractors into the field to plow, disk, and plant early this year, simply put, no water means no crop.

Orchard owners have been biting their nails. Some more unseasonably warm weather followed by a good hard frost could wipe out even the hardest of fruit trees. Although the warm weather this past week seems so good, in the long run, it may not be the best of things to happen.

All of the above points to the fact that we are dependent upon God. According to the Genesis creation story, we have been given charge of the world. You and I are caretakers of the world. We have the choice to work with one of God's greatest gifts to us, or we can destroy it and ourselves in the process.

As a rule, human nature has a rather strong independent streak that runs throughout. Yet, when all is said and done we are dependent upon God and His creation. Since most livelihoods don't depend upon the land, it's so easy to forget how much we really are at the mercy of the elements. In looking at our daily lives, are we creators or destroyers? An honest look will show us that we are a combination of both. In review of such, is there a way in which we can destroy less of our environment, and have a helping hand in creating God's world?

Take Care,
Wayne Ureel

"No prophet gains acceptance in His native place." These are the words that Jesus speaks to the crowd gathered inside the synagogue in today's Gospel. It looks as if Jesus utters this remark because He was not made welcome in His own town, but there is more to the story than this.

Luke's message in today's Gospel is not directed toward a Jewish audience, but rather a non-Jewish Gentile one. We must remember that Jesus was rejected by the vast majority of the Jewish people. This is what Luke is referring to when Jesus said "No prophet gains acceptance in His native place." What Christ meant is that no prophet is accepted by his own people. Christ is telling us that His message will be rejected by His own people, the Jewish nation.

In the Gospel, Christ makes reference to the prophets Elisha and Elijah. These references are mentioned for the sake of the Gentile people because these two prophets worked their miracles not for Jews, but rather for Gentiles. Jesus Christ was to suffer the same fate of Elijah and Elisha, the fate of rejection by His own people.

In today's Gospel we are reminded that Christ's message is one meant for all people. Christ also teaches us that suffering and rejection are part of living out this faith. Christ gives the courage necessary to live out our faith by the example He gives us in today's Gospel. "They rose up and expelled Him from the town, leading Him to the brow of the hill on which it was built, and intending to hurl Him over the edge. But He went straight through their midst and walked away." If we have faith in Christ we may not be accepted by many people, however, this faith in Christ will help us to overcome all opposition.

In Christ's Peace

Catholic Schools' Week

•Catholic Education: Gift to the Nation•

Holy Father, we the leaders of Catholic education in the United States of America wish to teach you about the uniqueness of this system of education. Five characteristics identify it as unique, identify it as different from the educational systems of every other country in the world.

First, our education program rests on the principle of freedom of choice; attendance at a Catholic school or a parish religious education program is not required, yet students come by the hundreds of thousands, almost eight million of them, because parents and children believe in the value of a Catholic education. Students in their daily lessons freely ask questions and even challenge their teachers. Catholic educators do not view this as a threat; rather, they recognize that it demonstrates the growth of critical thinking skills and the acquisition of new insights into the world in which they live.

The second unique aspect of American Catholic education is that it embraces all peoples. Black, Hispanic, Asian and native Americans compose over 20% of those in our schools. About 13% of our students are not Catholic; in some parishes this figure climbs as high as 60%. Our Catholic schools' emphasis on both racial integration and ecumenism reflect the importance they place on both social justice and service to children and youths of all faiths. Our special schools have been leaders in the education of handicapped children and young adults. Moreover, our regular elementary and high schools are making strides in serving these special students in their programs. This "mainstreaming" effort addresses the need for handicapped persons to be fully integrated into the Christian community and all facets of our Church's life.

The third unique aspect of American Catholic education is that this whole system depends on the voluntary financial support and service of thousands of people. No government funds are used directly to support Catholic schools. Nevertheless, these same parents also are required to pay taxes to support the public school system, even though they do not send their children to it. And we must not forget the financial sacrifice made by many who choose to teach in Catholic schools, for they often do so for substantially lower salaries than they could command in the public school systems. In addition, hundreds of thousands of volunteer Catechists serve in parish religious education programs with no financial return.

The fourth unique characteristic of American Catholic education is the degree to which parents are involved. On the day-to-day level, they can be found acting as teachers' aides and working with small groups; supervising play areas; recruiting new students; taking children on field trips; sharing their talents with students; and coaching sports. In addition to this, many have become active in the governance of schools and religious education programs. Many parents serve on these boards and working with the pastor and the educational administrators, set policy; see that it is implemented; develop ways to finance programs; and thus continue to gorge new partnerships in education.

The last characteristic of American Catholic education to which we direct your attention is its success. Year after year, students in Catholic schools score higher than the national average on government sponsored and administered tests in reading, mathematics and composition. Each year over 80% of the students who graduate from Catholic secondary schools enter colleges to continue their education. Finally, a higher percentage of American Catholics more regularly practice their religion by attending Mass and receiving the Sacraments than Catholics in other countries. Travel though you may, you will not find a more vital program of Catholic education than in the United States. Its vitality springs from its uniquely American roots and in turn allows our Catholic education truly to be a gift to our nation.

(This talk was addressed to Pope John Paul II during the 1987 Papal Visit to the United States. The speaker: James Griescraber, principal, Nativity of Our Lord School, St. Paul, Minnesota.)

CSA

Some parishioners told me that they thought the mention of an anonymous donation to the Catholic Services Appeal meant that our shortfall was thereby erased. That is not true. We are still $7,300 short of the 1988-89 target in pledges. We are short by $25,000 in payments of pledges.

Bequest

We recently received a five-hundred dollar bequest from the estate of a parishioner who had moved from Shrine a few years ago. We keep her and all our benefactors in prayer.

Have you remembered Shrine in your will?

Come...Grasp the Love of Christ

Letter from a Friend

I am writing to say how much I care for you and to say how much I want you to know me better.

When you awoke this morning I exploded a brilliant sunrise through your window hoping to get your attention, but you rushed off without even noticing.

Later, I noticed you were walking with some friends so I bathed you in warm sunshine and perfumed the air with nature's sweet scent, and still you didn't notice me. As you passed by, I shouted to you in a thunderstorm and painted a beautiful rainbow in the sky and you didn't even look.

In the evening I spilled moonlight onto your face and sent a cool breeze to rest you. As you slept, I watched over you and shared your thoughts, but you were unaware that I was so near.

I have chosen you and hope you will talk to me soon. Until then, I will remain near. I am your friend and love you very much.

Your Friend
Jesus

SHRINE HIGH SCHOOL CELEBRATES CATHOLIC SCHOOLS WEEK

To celebrate Catholic Schools Week, Jan. 29 to Feb. 4, parents of Shrine High School students were asked to reflect on the benefits of a Catholic school education. The following statements indicate why parents are so pleased with their children's Catholic educational experience.

Shrine High School has provided a positive experience for our students because....

"Shrine High School has provided a positive experience for our family for over 43 years. As a former student (class of 1948) and a parent of seven graduates (1973 through 1987), I could not be more pleased with the academic, spiritual, social and athletic opportunities provided by the dedicated faculty, administrators and program of Shrine High School. Extraordinary interest in the individual, program diversity, focus on values, discipline and an ideal scale of operation represent but a few of the benefits of the Shrine experience. Each member of our family departed from Shrine High School with an excellent education, valued friends, fond memories and the confidence to undertake life's challenges."

Ray and Patricia Bean

"Shrine has proven the importance of the daily expression and the living out of our Christian faith in an atmosphere that reenforces the ideals and principles that our family holds dear."

William and Sandra Fullmer

"Shrine High School, guided by good administrators, offers college preparatory courses taught by teachers who are dedicated and supportive. The school has a warm family atmosphere and it provides many activities- sports, leadership, drama, arts, music and science."

Ramon and Mildred Roco

"The school has always provided a sense of a second family for our students. Discipline is consistent and fair; a visit to the school is always an uplifting experience. We are well satisfied that our children have received a quality education."

Shane and Mary Ellen Murphy

"At Shrine High School our children are the beneficiaries of a Catholic tradition that celebrates Life. Life in the womb as well as the nursing home; Life in service and commitment to church, family and school; Life in each student regardless of color, ethnic background, or mental achievement. Someone cares whether each student is fulfilling his potential."

Pat and Sheila Dineen

"We feel our son, class of '86, and another son, presently a junior, have enjoyed a good education in what we believe is a 'Real World' environment. The efforts and hard work of the administration, faculty and parents combine to create a healthy experience."

Harv and Marguerite Rouleau

"The academic, personal and spiritual atmosphere at Shrine has been evident in all phases of our son's secondary school experience. We have observed his development into a self-confident, college-bound student."

Albert and Verne Chennault

"Shrine High School has provided a positive experience for our child because it is fulfilling the three major goals we have for our child, namely, stimulating challenges to her intellectual abilities, numerous opportunities for the achievement in extracurricular activities and most importantly, the motivation and guidance in values, morality and our Catholic faith that will enable our child to face the modern world as a solidly Christian adult."

COUNT THE COST

What a Success!

WOW! Did you come through! On the weekend of January 15, Shrine held a drive coordinated by our St. Vincent de Paul group and RCIA candidates. The clothes which were donated, as done regularly, went directly to St. Vincent for the needy. Steve Balog, Shrine's St. Vincent de Paul President, deserves much appreciation for his usual dedication to this collection. He also was generous in providing us with his own van so that we could store household items. RCIA candidates did a great job in being available during the drive and truly carried out an act of Christian service. Chuck Dropiewski, our RCIA Coordinator, truly shows that it is possible to continue spreading the Good News of the Christmas message.

As several parishioners brought their gifts to the van, the volunteers questioned whether they might need additional storage space — a true sign of what generosity was exhibited by all. Consequently, various household goods filled the van from top to bottom, and from window to window! It goes without saying then, what a superb turnout we experienced.

Following the collection of these household/toiletry items, some of these same volunteers delivered them to our diocesan facility. Again, they filled an entire storage room!

I know these goods will be enjoyed by our less fortunate since they are actually such BASIC needs. We often forget how we automatically depend on certain essentials, i.e. shampoo, towels, and toasters. Therefore, feel confident that your kindness is helping another.

Christ's Peace,
Suzanne Fabick,
Christian Service Coordinator

Youth
MINISTRIES

Do you feel your parents really trust you? How does it feel to be the oldest? Youngest? These were some of the areas covered last week when we discussed parent-child relationships.

We each made a list of questions we would like to ask our parents. These were collected and hung on the wall, where we compared them with lists made by our parents at their breakfast Sunday morning. We discovered that most parents want to know what our future plans are, while most of us would like to know why our parents put the pressures on us that they do.

We then had a break, found out the final Super Bowl score, and got back into our discussion.

We talked about the ups and downs of being the oldest, youngest, or somewhere in-between, but we realized that no matter what special privileges we may have, parents love all of their children the same amount.

Actually, we began our meeting with a talk by Theresa Marie Aubrey. Theresa Marie works with people who have muscular dystrophy, a crippling disease that puts most of the afflicted into a wheelchair by their teens. She asked for help in decorating a hall for a fundraiser Valentine's dance. If you are interested, please contact Ray at the rectory.

Remember that this weekend in Rainbow, so there will be no meeting. The next meeting will be next Sunday, February 5.

Sharon Hughes

CORE GROUP

We will be meeting next Sunday at 6:15 to discuss the lock-in. See you there!

Last Sunday after the 10:45 Mass we had our first annual parent meeting and breakfast extravaganza. I opened the meeting with a welcome to the parents and then Father Ed said the blessing over the food. Everyone seemed to enjoy their meal and we all had a chance to get to know each other.

After breakfast, everyone wrote down 10 questions they had concerning their relationship with their children. When they were finished, we taped them all on the wall and everyone looked at each other's questions. It was interesting to see how many questions were repeated.

Upcoming youth ministry activities were mentioned and plans for another parent meeting were discussed. The meeting ended with a prayer to the Holy Spirit to guide both parents and their children.

A special thanks goes out to all the advisors who worked long and hard to make this parent meeting a success. You did a great job!

Have a great day,
Ray LeMay

The NFP Alternative

The Couple to Couple League cordially invites married and engaged couples to learn the Sympto-Thermal Method of Natural Family Planning. A series of four classes is scheduled to begin in February at Sacred Heart in Dearborn and in April at St. Edmund in Warren.

The Sympto-Thermal Method is not the same as the old rhythm method, but rather a system of fertility awareness which is 99% effective when used properly. Couples learn to recognize and interpret signs occurring within a woman's body indicating periods of fertility and infertility. This method has also been helpful to some couples having difficulty in achieving pregnancy as well as those couples wishing to avoid pregnancy.

Classes will be held at Sacred Heart in Dearborn on Feb. 19, March 12, April 2 and April 23 from 2:30 - 4:30 p.m. To register call John and Claire Mueller at 981-0750. Classes at St. Edmund in Warren are scheduled for April 16, May 7, June 4 and June 25. For more information or to register please call Jim and Carol Berch at 778-4980.

Perpetual Eucharistic Adoration

TESTIMONIAL: Ruben T. Profugo,
D.D. Bishop of Lucena
(Philippines)

There are three main objections usually given when the proposal is made to have Perpetual Eucharistic Adoration in the parish. The first is that people will not respond because they are not spiritually mature and consequently, they will lose their enthusiasm. The second is that priorities may become confused and some people will prefer to go to the adoration chapel rather than go to Mass.

The third objection, and this is generally the strongest objection, is that Perpetual Eucharistic Adoration is too dangerous since it involves some of the people coming out in the middle of the night to cover the early morning hours.

The purpose of my message is to declare that none of the objections are valid. As a matter of fact, based on the evidence and experience of what has happened in my diocese the contrary is true.

Not only have the people in my diocese responded enthusiastically, but they have maintained their level of enthusiasm and have been very faithful to their commitment. Secondly, Mass attendance has increased noticeably on Sunday, as well as during the week. Many have come back to the Sacraments as a result of Perpetual Eucharistic Adoration.

But most dramatically, Perpetual Eucharistic Adoration has made my diocese safe from the violence that previously threatened to tear it apart. Both the priests and the laity credit Perpetual Eucharistic Adoration for protecting the diocese from the reign of communism and for bringing about peace and order. We put all our faith and trust in the omnipotent power of His love in the Blessed Sacrament and He did not fail us.

The point I want to make is that Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament is not static but dynamically alive. He is the Good Shepherd. He does not take people away from the Sacraments, but rather He is the one who brings them back. He does not make people weary, but rather refreshes them and makes them strong. He is the Lord of lords and King of kings. It is not dangerous to have Perpetual Eucharistic Adoration, but rather it is dangerous not to have it, because He is the only one who can protect and restore, heal and unite us.

What a beautiful testimonial! Our Eucharistic Lord invites us all to spend a little time with Him. Please feel free to drop in for visits. If you would like to make a weekly commitment, please call 545-1022 or the rectory 541-4122.

There will be a group of about 40 students from France and Spain, coming to this area this summer as part of a friendship and cultural exchange program. Most of the students will be Catholic, so we are very anxious to find Catholic host families for them. If your family is interested in becoming a host family, please contact one of the local program coordinators. They are Mrs. Debbie Todd (313) 828-4061 and Mrs. Ann Workman (313) 463-5265. These profits are marked for use of the SHRINE PARISH ONLY and all the proceeds stay in our parish and are put to good use. Please take a few minutes and send in your tickets. Checks can be made payable to the SHRINE FUNDRAISER and don't forget your stubs.

Furniture, etc. needed

Due to fires, homeless families, etc., the St. Vincent de Paul's stock of beds, mattresses, dressers, "working" gas stoves, gas dryers, washers, refrigerators are non-existent. Each conference in their parishes issue vouchers to the needy of their parish and the individual family goes to the S.V.D.P. Store on Gratiot in Detroit to pick up their needs and many times even after checking with the store first; they go away disappointed because there is not enough to go around. The S.V.D.P. Society in 1988 helped people with over a million dollars worth of goods. There is a weekly pick up in our area. So please call 567-1910 between the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., 6 days a week. At this time there is plenty of clothing.
