Hillsdale Here For Contest

Takes on Varsity Saturday At Navin Field—Tarbell
May Play

STUDENTS SIT SEPARATE

Hillsdale college of Hillsdale, Michigan, will be the first opponent of the University gridgers. The game will be played at Navin Field Saturday afternoon. Hillsdale has many vets back and with several promising new men should furnish a warm contest for Duffy's proteges. It is rumored that Tarbell, the 270 pound fullback may be in the lineup, which if true will be a big feature. Tarbell's prowess is well known to the older students for his plunging proclivities in former years. There will be a special stand allotted the students and the cheer leaders will be on hand. If the opposition is not too strong, Duffy will probably give the crowd a chance to view some of the promising new men. Every man in the University should be out to Navin Field Saturday as the game will undoubtedly be a good one and the backing of the students will be an incentive for the players to work harder.

"D" Lawyers Excel In State Bar Exam.

Produce Honor Man; Only One
Candidate Fails; Competition
Stiff

The state bar examinations which were held recently at Lansing proved to be a glorious triumph for the College of Law of the University of Detroit. The University not only produced the honor man of the state examination, but also obtained the highest percentage of successful candidates, only one man out of fifteen failing to acquire a passing mark. The four women candidates from the University passed with flying colors. George Sweetman Smith was the man who headed the candidates with a mark of 88. He was also honor man of his class. The school has been uniformly successful in all its state bar examinations, this not being the first time that it has emerged victorious in the contest.

VARSITY NEWS EVERY WEEK

With this issue the Varsity News becomes a weekly. Matter for each issue must reach us before Saturday noon, and preferably Friday. Tuesday will be our publication day, and the paper will be in the hands of the students Tuesday noon. This issue will be distributed free of charge to all the students of the University and the High School. Our circulation manager will visit all the departments this week, so kindly have your two dollars handy. Subscriptions by mail will be two dollars and a half, payable in advance. Subscribe yourself and get another to do the same.

NEW COURSE IN FOREIGN TRADE TO SUPPLY GROWING DEMAND OF CITY

Training In Traffic, Exporting and Languages, Will Fit
Students to Fill Detroit's Needs as World Port

A new course of instruction in foreign export trade has been added to the rapidly growing College of Commerce and Finance. The purpose of the course is to train students in export salesmanship, foreign credit and exchange systems.

The course of instruction will be built along five principal lines—languages; credits, including banking and exchanges; traffic, including shipping, insurance, documentation and tariffs; the geography of exportation, the import needs and export offerings of foreign countries and the machinery of sales.

A variety of languages will be offered in the course, including French, Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, Russian, Polish, German, Japanese, Hindostani, Swahili, Flemish, Dutch and Chinese.

In addition to the regular course of instruction a series of feature lectures, to be delivered by men eminent in their professions, has been arranged for the students. They include:

Trade Possibilities

"The Import Requirements of Great Britain and Ireland," by a representative of the British Embassy, Washington, D. C.

"The Import Requirements of France," by Mr. Antonin Barthelmy, Consul-General of France, Chicago, Illinois.

"The Import Demands of Russia and the Slav Countries," by the Prince Serge Cantacuze, of Paris.

"The Import Demands of China and Japan," by the Honorable Charles

Denby, late Consul-General at Hong Kong.

"The Import Demands of the Germanic States," by Mr. Edward A. Quarles, formerly Manager of Vacuum Oil Company, Berlin, Germany.

"The Import Demands of Mexico and the Central American States," by a representative of the Pan-American Union.

"The Import Demands of Holland and Belgium," by Marc Braun, of the Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record, Detroit, Michigan.

"The Import Demands of Equatorial South America," by Mr. George Pezet, formerly Ambassador of Peru to the United States.

"The Import Demands of the East Coast of South America," by Mr. William F. Sands, of the American Export Corporation, New York City.

"The Import Demands of the West Coast of South America," by Mr. George Logan Duval, of Messrs. Essels, Duval & Co., New York City.

This portion of the course will be preceded by two initiatory lectures on "The Field of Foreign Trade," by a leader in American exportation, and "The Pre-War Trade of the United States," by Mr. O. P. Austin, Statistician of the National City Bank, New York City.

Transportation

This portion of the course will be given by lectures and will be under the general direction of Mr. J. D.

1500 Students at University

All Departments Increase; Enrollment Greatest in History

HIGH SCHOOL TOTALS 500

The enrollment at the University this year has increased over the attendance of former years by leaps and bounds and when the last department opens its doors to the student a week from now it is expected that the enrollment will total fully fifteen hundred students.

The addition of the export trade course to the School of Commerce and Finance has proved a boon to the University, for the enrollment totals highest in this department. The freshman class of this year will count at least a hundred more students than last year in this branch of the school.

An enormous increase in attendance has also been reported by the registrars of the engineering and law schools; so large, in fact, has been the influx of new students in these two departments that it is doubtful whether they can be taken care of conveniently.

These two departments, together with the commerce and finance, have become extremely popular since their foundation, and it will not be long before the size of these schools will necessitate a separate building.

The attendance in the literary department has been doubled. This is due not alone to the incoming freshmen, but also to the return of students in the higher classes who have been discharged from the service.

The high school department also reports an increase of attendance, and where they numbered three hundred and seventy-five students last fall, they now number five hundred.

All the evidence points to the fact that the University of Detroit is rapidly growing, and it will not be long before a few new buildings will grace the campus of the Jefferson Avenue institution.

Ludwig Wolocko, the distinguished senior of last year's literary class, has entered St. Francis' Seminary, Wisconsin. Our best wishes go with him for success in his new work.

NEW PROFS. ADDED TO FACULTY OF LIT. DEPT.

Many Old Favorites Missed by Student Body; New Men
Impress Proteges

Several changes have occurred in the teaching staff of the literary department since the expiration of the last semester. Fr. Borlow, professor of Latin, has been succeeded by Fr. Bergin, lately professor of literature in St. Stanislaus Seminary; Fr. Slactemeyer, professor of physics, has also left the University, and is now stationed at the St. Stanislaus House of Retreats, Cleveland, Ohio. Fr. Jenne-man, professor of chemistry, has gone to Cincinnati.

Fr. O'Brien, teacher of Latin in the high school, has been assigned to a new post. Mr. Walsh, S. J.; Mr. Case, S. J.; Mr. Bakewell, S. J., and Mr. Mulheron, S. J., have been sent to St. Louis University, where they will complete their theological studies. Their positions have been filled by Mr. Kelley, S. J.; Mr. Reynolds, S. J.; Mr. McMahon, S. J., and Mr. Pitter, S. J. Mr. John R. Sweeney, besides taking charge of all high school athletics, is also teacher of mathematics.

Cy Plunkett and Edward Mercier, of the sophomore and freshman classes, respectively, have departed from the University and entered Holy Cross College at Worcester, Mass. Both completed their course at U. of D. high, and Plunkett finished his freshman year at the University. Holy Cross is a Jesuit college and a little smaller than the U. of D. Both Cy and Ed are ambitious youngsters and will make things hum down at H. C. C.

Several Changes in Varsity News Staff

Kennedy Leaves; Roy C. Hayes
to Edit Weekly; Arthur
O'Shea to Assist

Since the close of the school year in June some changes have taken place on the Varsity News staff. Paul V. Kennedy, for the last two years the editor, has left school and will no longer head the staff. Edwin F. Healy, assistant editor, has entered the Jesuit novitiate at Florissant, Mo. Both Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Healy were among the founders of the paper. Mr. Leichtman of the advertising staff has left for Saginaw to take a position with the General Motors. He intends to return after the first of the year. The departure of these men will necessitate several changes in and additions to the staff. Mr. Roy C. Hayes, for the past two years business manager, takes the editorship with this issue. Due to the amount of work that will be required to publish a weekly issue, the number of assistant editors has been increased. Among the assistant editors will be Arthur W. O'Shea, student football manager. Art gained quite a bit of experience on the Detroit News staff and will cover varsity athletics. William J. Millor will be the only assistant editor of last year to return. Gerald B. Garvey will see that the high school department gets its deserts. R. Ernest Christin, senior engineer and formerly an assistant editor, will return to the staff in that capacity. John R. Monaghan, advertising manager of last year, becomes business manager. The circulation managership will be ably handled by Joseph Hayes. Leo McHugh, new to the staff but well known and liked among the students, will take charge of the advertising. He will be assisted by John Troester, James Schnittger, Harry Warning and Howard Springer.

Bill Edwards, star quarterback of '17, has been forced to quit the team this year because of an athletic heart. Bill showed his old-time pep in the first scrimmage, but was advised by his physician to quit the sport. He will be sorely missed, as Duffy had intended him for a halfback position because of his speed. Edwards was enrolled in the engineering department.

The literary class of '21 will look forward to a large amount of songs. With the addition of Joe Wallich, Bob Kalthoff, Ernie Stefani and the O'Shea brothers back in school.

Yellmaster's Position To Be One of Merit

Tryouts for the yellmaster positions more like the literary class of '20 will be held this week by the athletic board. All students who think they can qualify for the positions will hand in their names to Bill Reid, the athletic director.

"D" Union Initial Meeting, Wed., Oct. 7

To Have Powerful Influence in Coming Student Activities

The Detroit Union will again be the center of the University activities when President John A. Reynolds calls to order the first meeting of the society Wednesday evening, Oct. 7, at 8 o'clock. In pursuance of its policy of last year, the union has secured a prominent business man in the person of Gerald J. McMechan, vice-president and treasurer of the Union Trust Company, to speak before the members.

Mr. McMechan is a keen student of business and industrial affairs, both local and national. He has been associated with his company for over thirty years, and from this point of vantage has viewed the commercial and financial life of the city in all its astounding phases. His official capacity as a trust company officer has afforded him opportunity to know and appreciate the inner workings of mercantile life.

With its inception last year the Union filled a long-felt want at the University in knitting together the various departments and cementing the bond of friendship between the students of these departments. This year the Union intends to further its work in this regard and will stage a series of dances and arrange other social events. The "J" hop will also be handled by the Union.

The meeting Wednesday evening will be held to appoint committees to handle the various routine duties coincident to the beginning of the new year and to arrange for the election of officers and directors for the coming semester. All members of the University, members and non-members, are urged to be present and to hand in their names for prospective membership.

The Union will play a large part in the school activities, both athletic and social. It has complete charge of electing the student managers and yellmasters of all the athletic teams, and will have all social functions under its auspices.

Many Detroiters Enter Seminaries

Healy, Brennan Go to Jesuit Novitiate; George Bateson Goes to Rome

Quite a number of men from the literary department left the University for seminaries since the close of school in June. The Jesuit novitiate at Florissant took two of the best liked men in the University. Vincent L. Brennan, '19, left on Labor Day to join the Jesuit order. Vince won his letter in football three years ago. With George R. Bateson he was an assistant editor on the Varsity News in the first year of our existence. Edwin F. Healy left for the same place two weeks later. Ed was a member of the present senior class, and without a doubt was the most popular man in his class. Like Brennan, Ed was an assistant editor a year later. Ed took honors in his class many times and never failed to make at least 85%, quite an honor in view of the scholastic standing of the class. The departure of these two takes away from University circles two of the finest young men known here in a long time. Four young men, recent graduates of the University High, also left for Florissant. These were Jerry Lemmer, Leo Sullivan, Bert Barton and Paul Kovalcik.

To an ex-assistant editor goes the honor of representing the University in Rome. George R. Bateson, '19, is the man chosen by Bishop Gallagher. George did great work on the Varsity News in the capacity of assistant editor, and much is expected of him in later years. George will enter the American College in Rome, which is situated next to the king's palace. He will be there for four years and will return as Fr. Bateson. Allan Babcock, a member of the same class but for the last two years a student at Assumption College, will accompany him. George will leave Detroit Oct. 4 for New York and will sail on the 7th. During the next few summers George expects to see quite a bit of Europe, as travel is one of the few privileges allowed.

Kenneth Cassidy, last year a sophomore, is another man to enter upon study for the priesthood. "Ken" left a few days ago for Mount St. Mary's Seminary, Cincinnati. He will have plenty of Detroit men with him, as McCullough, Lage, Polowski, George and Charlie Burkhardt are also there. Charlie, however, entered a few days before Ken. As all S. O. T. C. veterans will remember, Ken was mess sergeant here last fall.

The Varsity News wishes them every success from the cornucopia of good fortune.

Thomas Murphy, our smiling Irishman, has returned and says he is going to show everybody up this year in the study line. Time will tell!

VINCENT DACY, "DAD OF AMATEUR SPORTS"

Becomes So Known Through His Activity in Boosting Athletics

Vincent Dacey, Lit. '15, former varsity basketball coach, is again claiming the attention of the public of Detroit by his campaign to establish the Detroit Athletic Association to foster amateur sports and place Detroit on the pinnacle of the sporting world.

Vince has accomplished so much in the last few years to establish sports firmly in the city that he has acquired the title of "Daddy of Amateur Sports." His latest move is a step toward organizing and securely binding together the little world of sport which he has already created.

While in school Dacey was a crack athlete himself, starring on the baseball, basketball and track teams. He will re-enter the University this fall, enrolling in the college of law.

Richardson, of Detroit. The topics discussed will be:

"World-Wide Shipping of the United States," by a member of the firm of Gaston, Wigmore & Williams, New York City.

"The Tariffs of Foreign Countries," by a Specialist, with access to the school's files of foreign tariffs.

"The Free Ports of Foreign Countries," by D. R. S. McElwee, of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Washington, D. C.

"Packing for Foreign Markets," by a specialist.

The Machinery of Salesmanship

This section of the course will also be given in lecture form, and will include:

"Actual Personal Contact with Foreign Buyers." Lectures to be announced later.

"The Building Up of a Foreign Trade by An American," by Mr. John C. Spratt, of Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit.

"Governmental Aids to Trade." Three lectures by Mr. Louis James Rosenberg, formerly of the United States Consular Service.

"The Usefulness of Foreign Consulates in the United States," by Mr. Horace Dickinson Nugent, Consul-General of Great Britain, Chicago.

"Advertising Methods and Facilities in Foreign Countries," by an instructor of the school's staff.

"The Climatology of Export Trade," based on information supplied by Mr. Norman B. Conger, United States Weather Bureau, Detroit.

There are but three other schools of the kind in the United States, the others being Georgetown University, New York University and Boston University. The school is based largely upon the educational foundations laid down by the famous French School L'Ecole Libre des Sciences Politiques, with which it will be in corresponding relationship. It will also have a scholastic affiliation with the faculty of the University of Buenos Aires.

Philomathic to Open Season Next Monday

Fr. McClorey New Moderator; Officers for Coming Year to Be Elected

The Philomathic Debating Society will have formally begun the year next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Roy C. Hayes, ranking officer of the organization, calls to order the first meeting of the 1919-20 season.

The meeting will be a purely business affair, consisting of the appointing of committees and election of officers. The old officers who still remain at school are Roy C. Hayes, secretary; Joseph A. Hayes, treasurer, and Maurice Romayne and George O'Brien of the committee on debates.

Rev. Father McClorey will become moderator of the society, succeeding Fr. Nicolas.

All students of the literary department are urged to join the Philomathic Society, as only members of that society are eligible to compete in the Skinner debate and oratorical contest. It has also been announced that these two affairs will be held early in February, instead of in the latter part of May, as formerly.

John Osier of Bay City, a former student of the University during the S. A. T. C., is in the employ of the Noble Co., haberdashers of this city. Mr. Osier is a great booster of the University and the Varsity News, and assured us that his subscription would be among the first received.

CANDIDATES WANTED FOR VARSITY BAND

Fr. Foley Receiving Names; Band to Play at All Public Functions

Candidates for the varsity band are now being received by Fr. Foley. To date seventeen men have signified their intention to try out for positions in the musical organization, and about double that number will be necessary before the band can be rounded out and perfected.

A sufficient number of cornet players have been obtained. Other pieces are sadly lacking. There is always room for a good cornettist, however, and all applicants for that position will be given a thorough trial. The members of the band will be uniformed at the expense of the athletic board. The band will play at the football games and other varsity contests as well as disport their wares at the various social functions. All students who can play any band instrument are earnestly requested to report for band practice.

A Word At the Outset

In beginning the third year of its existence, the Varsity News wishes to sound a note of warning to students and alumni interested in our welfare. Starting out three years ago under no small difficulties, we succeeded in weathering a threatening storm. The second year brought many of the old difficulties, but with the experience gained the staff was able to make the year a decided success. Success in the first two years, although not gained without much effort, has imbued the staff with confidence, and it is our opinion that a weekly issue can be published. The splendid football schedule and the program for University activities in general seem to demand a paper appearing more frequently than every two weeks. The large enrollments in all departments, and the spirit that is looked for on the campus this year make it necessary that we attempt a weekly issue. And in taking the step, we have no little confidence that the project will be successful. However, herein lies the point of this article. The staff will, as in the past, bend every effort to make a year a successful one, but as we are taking greater responsibilities upon ourselves, we must look for even more support from the students and alumni. This we feel confident of getting from the students, and the alumni will undoubtedly note the situation and act accordingly. Tuesday will be our date of publication, and a newsy, breezy edition will be printed each week as long as the support warrants it. So, Mr. Student, continue your loyal support and, Mr. Alumnus, try and do a little better and by mutual co-operation make the Varsity News a better paper and thereby aid your Alma Mater.

Concerning Freshmen

The great growth of our University this year is a fact pleasing to both faculty and student body alike. From the meager classes of a year ago, a condition brought about by the late war, we are now confronted with class rooms crowded to capacity and new students coming in every day. The outlook is bright and there is no reason why our school should not take its place among the great Universities of the country, where it rightfully belongs.

In order that our College may hasten towards this, its sure goal, there must be certain changes in the school itself. College customs, such as are prevalent in all the large institutions in the country, must be firmly established here, for college customs promote college spirit and this spirit will gain for us prestige both in the city and throughout the state and country.

Among some of the most time-honored customs of all colleges is the fact that upper classes are possessed of special privileges, peculiar to them alone, and Freshmen are excluded from these. This system does not aim to subjugate the new man but to duly impress him with the traditions, customs and practices of the school. Accordingly, he will learn to look forward to the days when he, too, will be an upper classman and will be in full possession of all their rights.

The name of the University of Detroit will receive greater honor when it is known that upper classmen alone represent her in all public appearances. The student will, moreover, fully appreciate the honor which is his in publicly appearing in the name of the U. of D. On the other hand it will be no hardship for the Freshman; for if he has the ability, to represent the College in his Freshman year he will be all the more prepared to appear in Sophomore. If the Freshman is allowed to participate and carries off some honors it is a reflection on the three upper classes and consequently on the entire school. In the past years Freshmen have been given the privilege of appearing publicly in the name of the school on account of our size but now we are expanding, our student body numbers over fourteen hundred, and restrictions should be placed on the new men.

Need of a Classical Education

The much mooted question of the benefits derived from a classical education has again come to the fore, and this time the cause of the classics has been championed by an engineer, a man highly respected in his profession and out of it.

Lecturing before a recent convention of engineers, he boldly advanced the cause of Latin and Greek and deplored the lack of truly educated men in his profession. The summation of his statement was that although a student could become a fairly good engineer with a purely technical training, yet with a classical education he could become a highly efficient exponent of the profession. The world today is filled with too many professional men of only mediocre ability. What the world needs is masters, men with the ability and the far-sightedness to look ahead and solve the problems of the morrow.

That a classical education would produce men of this type, he alleges as true, and with it he says the engineering student would become "a general of engineering, a master of organized effort."

Thus does an engineer defend the cultural education. The truth of his statements can well bear scrutiny. The vast treasures embodied in the languages of the Greeks and Romans do, by their careful study, bring out the best that is in us, develop our hearts and souls, ennoble our minds and enrich the treasure lofts of our intelligence. By a knowledge of the customs and habits of these two noble races, our world is broadened and enriched. Our spiritual natures are developed, and what more than this can be asked? What more can be demanded of a man than that he be a man? With a foundation such as this to build upon, what height cannot a man attain in his profession and a the world? Educated as he is in the problems is too difficult for his trained mind to grasp, no situation is too complex for him to handle. The time expended in studying the classics is well spent, both from a utilitarian and a cultural standpoint, and this professional men are realizing more and more.

Join the Detroit Union

About a year ago there was the prevalent idea among the older students that there ought to be a closer bond of union and sympathy among the various departments of the University. This feeling soon made itself manifest among the student body and resulted in the organization of a society known as the Detroit Union. Many members of the University (but not all of them) soon joined the Union and the society went along merrily till the end of the school term.

Now we are entered upon a new school year, and the need for such an organization was never so much felt. The school has grown immeasurably since last year. New students are flocking here by the hundreds. Now is the time for the Union to perform its telling work, to unite these new elements with the men already in school, to make them feel at home and to dispel from their minds the idea that they are foreigners in a strange country.

On the other hand, the students who are not already members of the Union should join at once. It is to their own advantage that they do so. The Union is the link that unites them to their brother students. It is the teacher that opens to them new worlds never dreamed of before. Here the student of law can obtain the viewpoint of his brother the engineer, and the student of letters the viewpoint of his brother the commercial and financial man. It is a university in itself. Department mixes with department. A student's acquaintances are no longer limited to a clique. Finally a fraternal spirit pervades the entire University and all are looked upon as brothers laboring in a common cause, their own and the University's betterment. So if you are not a member of the Detroit Union join at once!

It has been announced by the regiment of the engineering department that those students in the department who wish can avail themselves of a special course in the commerce and finance department Tuesday and Thursday nights. The subjects to be taken up can be chosen by the students. Among the most fitting are: Business management, accounting, contracts and law. These are subjects which the engineer should know in order to hold down an executive position. It is up to the student to choose. Arrangements should be made with Mr. Davis of the C. and F. department, as soon as possible.

GOOD-BYE, DEACON P. V. K.

It is rumored 'round the office that you won't be coming back,
That no more your sunny countenance we'll see;
But the old V. N. will run, tho its staff will always lack
The laugh of smiling Deacon Kennedy.

Oh! We'll miss your snappy comment on the school's important boys
In the editorial columns of our paper;
And we'll never have detective stories crammed with thrills and joys,
And bun-eating write-ups will have lost their maker.

'Mongst the founders of our weekly and the builders of our school,
Your name is always held in high regard.
Our wee staff has grown and prospered under your own smiling rule.
And to work for you has not at all been hard.

May the ship "Good Luck" be burdened with the best of things for you.
Tho we wish that you could longer with us stay.
But a "nobler calling" beckons and we know that you will do
Your best, so good-bye, Deacon P. V. K.

Bright Prospects For Basketball

Varsity Has Heavy Schedule
Booked; Large Squad
Expected Out

Present indications point to a banner year in basketball at the University. Many veterans of the '17 team will be back on the court again when Coach Brown issues a call for players. Among these will be O'Shea, Voss, Pisula, Ryneron, Warning, Murphy, Dowler, Lyons and Diegel. Leavenworth, who was out for the team two years ago, will also be back, and should be in fine shape after the football season. Prey of Eastern High and Loving of Tommy Leith's school are also promising prospects.

According to Edward H. Kennedy, student basketball manager, the schedule will be a heavy one and a first-class team will have to represent the University if the Red and White aggregation is to come out with a winning percentage. Although no games have been signed up at present, we may expect to see Minnesota, Chicago, Ohio State and Illinois on the University floor this season. The team will make at least three trips, the first through New York, the second through Pennsylvania, and the third through Indiana. Indiana University has asked for a date there, and there is a possibility of bringing the Hoosiers here for a return game. Princeton and Michigan have also been written, but no replies have been received at this writing. Notre Dame is also a possibility. The first trip will be taken Dec. 22-23-24, the second Jan. 21-22-23 and the third Feb. 21-22-23. A sophomore to act as assistant basketball manager is still to be selected. The choice will probably be made in the near future.

Ohio State University will be unable to accommodate the University on the basketball schedule this year, according to a wire received a few days ago.

Irving Soleau, who served with the United States Shipping Board in Russia, has resumed his studies as a junior in the literary department. Irving is to be complimented on his success as author of a feature article on conditions in Russia, which appeared in a recent issue of the Detroit News. His brother Elliott has enrolled in the C. & F. department.

PENINSULAR STATE BANK
A BANK FOR ALL THE PEOPLE
COMMERCIAL AND SAVINGS DEPARTMENTS

Squad in Readiness for First Game

Barring Accidents Team Should Show Clean Slate for Entire Season

The football season of 1919 got under way officially at Belle Isle on Sept. 15, when Assistant Coach Brown lined up his forty-odd candidates for calisthenics. Coach Jimmy Duffv's eyes sparkled as he watched the huskies go through their warming up exercise. Since that initial workout Jimmy hasn't idled a minute. He and Brown have driven the squad, numbering around fifty, at a terrific speed six nights out of the week. The rope, bucking strap and charging machine, together with rudimentary practice and scrimmages, have hardened muscles and helped the wind to such an extent that all the men should be in the finest sort of condition for Hillsdale next Saturday.

The team boasts some wonderful candidates in veterans Capt. Fitzgerald, Brennan, Lauer, Moegel, Voss, Hogan, Kenny and Kane. The loss of Edwards, at doctor's orders, is indeed a serious blow, but thanks to Brennan, Hampston and Quigley, the quarter position will be well cared for.

Two near-veterans who were here in '17, but who left the squad before the season actually got under way, are Gormley and Leavenworth. Gormley, who is probably the most likely of the guard candidates, is the heaviest man on the squad, weighing 215 pounds, while Leavenworth is an end who can kick and pass in addition to being a very reliable defensive player.

The news that Eddie Moegel, captain-elect of the '17 team, had returned, was most welcome. Eddie saw much service in the trenches and is faster and stronger for his experience. He should prove a wonder this season behind the powerful line that he will be assured of. As an open field runner he has few peers and he is equally good on the defense.

"Tilly" Voss, than whom there is no greater tackle, got a late start, a nasty wound he received while diving last summer being the cause. Another whose start was delayed is "Dutch" Lauer, the wonder kid, powerful cog in our great team of '17 and equally important last year to the Great Lakes championship eleven. The Monroe flash was barred from the earlier scrimmages due to a lame shoulder, but under Trainer Crowley's care the soreness is vanishing, which should guarantee Lauer's start Saturday.

In addition to the veterans, there are a lot of likely looking newcomers. Among those from out of the state are Ellis and Larkin, tackles; Hampston and Quigley, quarters; Kinney, Seitz and Curtain, halves; Brennan and Devonbeck, ends, and McCormick, center.

Ellis, a great lineman, is almost certain to start at tackle or guard. In addition to understanding the game thoroughly, he is powerful, fast and a fighter, a great combination. McCormick is putting up a great battle for the center job, while Tom Brennan looks good at end. All these lads made names for themselves in prep school and much is expected of them here.

Among the local boys fighting for positions are Loving of Central, Clago of Cass, Prey of Eastern and O'Neill, Bill Laurer and Murphy of our S. A. T. C. team. Loving was a running mate to Moegel on Central's national championship team of 1915. He is a splendid open field runner, a good line buckler and a fair punter. Clago is rangy, fast and a deadly tackler. He should fill in the gap at left end very nicely. McClaren from Adrian High looks good; he possesses all the requisites of a first-class back. A chap who is likely to unset all the dope and win a job for himself is O'Neill. This boy is as good as they come at hitting a line; he runs low and with terrific force; he is heavier than he was last year and may prove himself one of Duffy's leading aces. "Red" Murphy is as good a man of his weight as you'll find anywhere, and is likely to prove a "thorn in the side" of some of his beefier rivals.

Duffv should pick a marvelous team from his material, a team that should gain for itself national honors. There will be ample opportunity to compare it with the best in the east, as Georgetown, Tufts and Holy Cross meet nearly all the "big timers." Duffy's Tigers are a much-watched team, not only locally but through the middle west and east as well, and none realize it more than the peppery little coach. Trust Duffy! He'll do his best to pilot the team to honors, and that's all the school expects from the little Irishman.

Below is a list of pertinent facts and figures, giving the "dope" on the Varsity football team:

University Basketball Wins Many Laurels in Golf Tournaments

"Yea Diegel, yea Diegel, yea Diegel," has been a popular yell during the past two basketball seasons. All who have seen blond Leo perform must admit that he is a classy guard. In '17, when the school had the best team in the state, Leo was one of the letter men, and his playing in the final series with the Y. M. O. was really brilliant. Last year he proved a nightmare to all opposing forwards. He's so unassuming that you probably never thought of connecting him with Diegel the golfer, who has have been rivalling Ty Cobb's monopoly on the sporting

It's funny how so many of these birds drew the same disease of creasing their heads in the middle, for my part I think there are women in the case or cases.

Now that the vacationing days are over out come the old familiar names—Mable, Adaline, Frances, Minnie—Calcamine or Helena.

Our beloved Chemistry professor is back after having shown a certain bus factory in the city why H₂O should go in the gas tank instead of the radiator. Welcome home.

Contractors are now under way, manipulating a sign for the "Varacity Nus Offs." CONFIDENTIAL—If you are a friend of the paper stay out, if not, come in—you may have news for us.

Varacity Nus should have no trouble getting ads for men's Haberflappers this fall on account of having so many flivver engineers.

All the front entrance needs in the way of signs is a Stop-Look-Listen—Take notice you vigorous and vivacious gentlemen of the upper classes.

The only way the Lits will ever get to know the Engineers is to transpose the 2nd zone to the 4th and hibernate the 4th to the 2nd, Comprenez vous?

Mosquitoes are about the least discriminating fowls that we have; I once saw one kiss an old maid and she blushed for a week.

Most fairs and bazaars go wanting for lack of young women for kissing booths, why not round up all the old maids, divide into bunches and allow them to be kissed for 15c a bunch.

By wise, old due dinkersinfomm saying runs, "Kissing is contagious." Lots of young flappers are running amuck for want of an ailment.

Lit Men Organize Upper Class Club

Freshmen to Be Barred From New Society; Smoker to Be Held Soon

A society for the members of the literary department was formed Wednesday afternoon in the philosophy classroom. The initial plans of the organization are to exclude freshmen from membership, making the society strictly an upper class organization. Just what privileges will be open to first year men has not yet been decided, but the present outlook is rather dark for the newcomers.

Richard Connolly, a pre-medic, was chosen as temporary chairman while the gathering balloted for officers. Roy C. Hayes, Senior Lit. and editor of the Varsity News, was chosen president; Arthur W. O'Shea, student, football manager, vice-president; Richard Connolly, secretary; Gerald Garvey, assistant editor of the Varsity News, was elected to the office of treasurer, and James T. Carney and Simon O'Shea, sergeants-at-arms. Due to the short time allotted for the meeting, a name for the organization was not selected and details not entered into. A motion was made to have a committee appointed to draft a constitution and set of by-laws and present them at the next meeting, called for Monday. The committee appointed includes George O'Brien, chairman; Frank Gorman and Jos. Hayes.

As we are on the press before this meeting was held details will have to stand over to the next issue. About thirty-five men were present at the initial meeting, which was a very good showing considering the publicity that was given it. One of the objects of the society is to arrange for frequent get-togethers, smokers, dances and entertainments of various natures.

Paul Kennedy, last year's editor of the Varsity News, spent two weeks at Harper Hospital, where he underwent a minor operation. While there Paul was visited by a few members of the staff and was in the best of spirits. He was organizing a class in Hoyle among the older patients at the institution, we were informed. Between wild stories of escapades at the University and horrible threats of what he would do when all was quiet, the Deacon had the nurses in a quandary. We assured the good ladies that Paul would do nothing that was not within the principles of a sane man and quieted their fears. Latest reports say that Mr. Kennedy is at home and is getting along very well.

page this past summer—but he's the same Leo.

Leo is a golfer par excellence. He learned the game as a caddy, lugging numerous clubs for chaps who could have done better with a baseball bat. His first accomplishment was the winning of a caddies' tournament. In 1916, at the age of sixteen, he entered the Michigan open tournament and astonished all the state golfers by finishing first. At Saginaw this summer he repeated, winning by nineteen strokes, a regular walkaway.

It was in the Western open tournament at Cleveland this summer that he first broke into national prominence. Here he was pitted against a field that included the real golfing class of this country. Leo was not conceded a chance of placing. The veteran, Jim Barnes, playing the best golf of his career and setting a record for the western classic, won the event with a score of 283, but hard on his heels came Leo with a score of 286, ahead of Hagen, the American open champion, Evans, former open and amateur champion, and others equally famous.

In addition to this feat Diegel placed third in the Canadian open championship, and was fourth in the Southern tournament, always against the stiffest opposition.

In a match at the Detroit Country Club links last July he and Walter Hagen defeated Chick Evans and Jock Hutchinson in a sensational game before the largest gallery this town has ever seen. In Atlanta last month, teaming with Barnes, he helped down Bobby Jones and Evans.

Scrub Managers Promoted
by Merit System

Student managers in every varsity sport are to be selected at the University this year. Arthur W. O'Shea, Junior Lit., has been selected as football manager, with Hurd Gainey, Soph. Lit., as his assistant. Art O'Shea is a graduate of University High and had completed two years in the literary department when the war broke. Art then transferred his activities to the aviation department of the army. He finished ground school at the University of Texas about two weeks before the armistice was signed. He has been on basketball and football squads in the past and is well qualified to handle the responsible position he has attained. Art won his "D" in football and in basketball.

Hurd Gainey, his assistant, is a football man, and has already won two "D's" in that sport. Hurd will succeed O'Shea automatically next year. Next year's assistant manager will be selected from the present scrub managers. The list of scrub managers includes George Marschke, George Holland, Thomas Maher, James Cullen, Charles Rabaut and John Martin. Edward Fitzgerald, a pre-medic, is in charge of the scrub managers, with Charles McGowan to assist him. At the close of the present football season the athletic heads will confer and select next year's assistant manager from the present list of scrub managers.

John Troester, at present a sophomore, spent the summer pounding nails at Chalmers Motor Car Company. If we gaze upon his hands we will notice that he hammered a few nails for which he wasn't paid.

FORMER "U" PROFESSOR TO STUDY IN SPAIN

On Monday, Sept. 8, Mr. Francis J. Preuss, S. J., who taught at the University for six years, left for New York city to sail for Barcelona, Spain, where he will finish his course of studies.

Mr. Preuss was well known in the literary department, having taught Latin and Greek here and in the high school. During his brief stay in Detroit he was the recipient of many calls from his former pupils. In the past year he has been studying at Florissant, Mo., with several former Detroiters who are there as novices.

Mr. Preuss' complete mastery of the classics has won for him respect and renown not only at the University, but throughout the western province. His ordination will no doubt take place in one of the grand old cathedrals of Europe.

James Mullin, a member of last year's fourth high class, died at his home September 13 after being ill for three weeks. James finished his high school course last June and was contemplating coming back to college this fall. He was very popular and will be missed by the freshman literary class of 1919. His funeral was held Tuesday morning, September 16, the following men of the present freshman literary class acting as pallbearers: William McBrearty, George Holland, Thomas Maher, Bernard Marshke, Ernest King and John Rice.

Philaethic Promises Bigger and Better Year

The Philaethic Society in the high school will be bigger and better this year, according to Mr. Morrison, the moderator, who prophesies "big" things. Many seniors have returned and the new members are enrolling so rapidly that Mr. Morrison will have to find new quarters to house all the membership. The officers have not yet been chosen, but no doubt will be selected from the older men. Meetings will be held once a week, beginning at 12 and ending at 12:55. The reason for choosing these hours was due to the fact that so much spirit and pep is being shown in the high school that most of the men are out for the high school football team. According to Mr. Morrison this was the only time that the fellows could be brought together. Although the first debate will probably be held the first week in October, the subject has not yet been chosen. Owing to the short time given to Philaethic work, banquets and smokers will be done away with for the present.

HIGH HOLDS REAL PEP MEETING IN GYM

A pep meeting was held in the high school Tuesday noon to start the ball rolling for the coming football season. Fr. Foley was the first speaker and delivered some oration on school spirit. He encouraged the men to back the Hi team and to support every single thing started in the high school or college. Mr. Morrison was the next speaker and told the fellows that they had the best high school in the city of Detroit, and that before the present season was over every school in the city would be well aware of the fact. Coach Sweeney then took the stand and narrated to his audience the prospects for this year. He said that if the fellows backed the team the players would bring home the bacon. Frank Nolan, a senior in the high school, who is out for tackle, then jumped on the stand and took the crowd through a few yells.

Have you heard 'bout our high 'Cross the street?

It's a place that for pep Can't be beat.

Now we've organized a Union, Yes, a Union, not an onion, But it's strong as any onion, 'Twa, twa, tweet.

Acolytes Start Season With 150 Members

On Wednesday, Sept. 24, the Acolytical Society of the University held its first meeting. About 150 members attended and hence a good year can be expected. Mr. Morrison, the director, announced that a banquet would be held during the month of October and that all the old member as well as the new would be expected to attend. He laid special emphasis on the fact that the members who entered the college department should not break their connections with the society, but should be certain to return to the fold and continue their good work of last year. There are several men in the high school who have returned, but Mr. Morrison was particularly solicitous for the services of all the former members, and stated that a great deal of the success depended on them. There will be several functions this fall besides all the other events during the year. The men in the college are requested to see Mr. Morrison and hand him their names, pledging their services for the coming year.

Soph (proudly): "And we have 'our baths and—"

Fresh: "Why, darn it, you're crazy. There aren't four Saturday nights in the week."

Football Outlook in High Good

Stiff Schedule Arranged for Team Rapidly Rounding Into Form

The prospects for a banner year in the football line are exceedingly bright. Coach Sweeney has his band of huskies out every night at D. U. S. working like Trojans. Not one man on the squad is sure of his position. Competition is strong, and a fellow must show the "stuff" he's made of in order to make the team. Of last year's team Savage (captain), Bonnell, Carroll, L. Bowman, J. Bowman, Taylor, Reid, Finn, Chapp, Quinn, Condon and Nolan are back. Several men have graduated from the minors of last year and are eligible for the Hi team. They are J. Flannery, Storen, Miller and Devlin. The Hi boys are right behind the team with their support, and are showing plenty of pep and spirit. Unfortunately, the alumni have not thought it advisable for the Hi team to play the preliminaries to the varsity games. On this account as many games as possible will be palved away from home since the D. U. S. cannot be used. As may be seen from the schedule, many games have been arranged for Friday afternoons. The full and hearty support of every man in the high school will certainly be necessary on these occasions. The schedule:

September 27—Western High at Clark Park.

October 4—Windsor at Windsor.

October 11—Monroe at Monroe.

October 18—Assumption at Assumption (tentative).

October 24—Wayne at Wayne.

November 1—Northern at Detroit (tentative).

November 7—Nordstrum at Solvay Park.

November 15—Adrian at Detroit.

November 22—Cass at Detroit (tentative).

Jack Hartford, of last year's freshman class, has left for Notre Dame University, where he will endeavor to uphold the name of U. of D. Good luck, Jack.

Enrollment in High Sets New Record

Five Hundred Students Numbered in Fifteen Classes

That the University of Detroit High School was placed on the map last year is evident from the number of students that have enrolled this fall. In round numbers, there are 500 students taking their high school course at the U. of D. High School. In first year alone there are six different classrooms, two more than last year and three more than the year before. There are four second year rooms, three third year rooms and two fourth year classes. The high school will be represented in every line of sport this year, since it will have football, basketball and track team, as well as handball and tennis teams. Coach Sweeney is making wonderful progress with the football team, and the prospects for a good basketball team are bright. Fr. Foley, who was made principal of the high school after Fr. Miner's death, has been reappointed. The following comprise the faculty in the high school for the present year: Fr. Bick, Latin, English and Algebra; Fr. McGovern, English and Latin; Fr. Nash, Latin and Algebra; Mr. Kelly, Latin, English and Algebra; Mr. McMahon, Latin and English; Mr. Puetter, Greek and Latin, and Mr. Reynolds, Physics. The following laymen have been secured to assist in the high school: Mr. Sweeney, Jr., History and English; Mr. Ryan, English and History; Mr. Curtin, Algebra and Geometry; Mr. Harbrecht, Algebra and Latin; Mr. Daly, Latin and English; Mr. Madden, Algebra and History, and Mr. Gerkin, History and English.

"U" High Defeated by Western 12-0

Game Devoid of Thrills; Both Sides Put Up Poor Brand of Fall Pastime

The University of Detroit High football team went down to defeat before the heavy eleven of Western High at Clark Park Saturday afternoon. Though outweighed twenty pounds to the man, the U. of D. Hi fought gamely to stave off defeat. Chapp kicked off to Western's ten-yard line. After a series of line plunges Western placed the ball on U. of D.'s two-yard line. Here Western fumbled and Detroit recovered. Savage then unted out of danger. For several minutes Western pounded Detroit's line and then started to make use of the forward pass. Three were completed successfully and the ball was placed on Detroit's ten-yard line. McKay then took the ball over for the first touchdown, but missed the goal. The first half ended with the ball on Western's forty-yard line. The score: Western 6, U. of D. 0.

Finn went in at an end at the beginning of the second half and strengthened the line considerably. There was no scoring in the third quarter. In the fourth quarter McKay carried the ball across for Western's second touchdown. Again he missed the goal. Carrol, Savage, Finn, L. Bowman and Chapp played exceptionally well for U. of D., and McKay, Witt and Weber starred for Western. The score:

	1	2	3	4	Final
Western	0	6	0	6	12
U. of D.	0	0	0	0	0

Touchdowns—Western 2: McKay, Garsteki.

Goals from touchdowns—McKay, none in two.

Referee—Calder.

Umpire—Muffet.

Head Linesman—Bedford.

Substitutions—U. of D.: Finn for J. Bowman, Deitz for L. Bowman, Condon for Savage, Storn for Howard. Western: Smith for Towar, White for Weber, Lockhart and McGregor.

It certainly is edifying the way some chaps seem to take a liking to certain branches. I have a young man in mind who has taken geometry for two years and is seriously contemplating taking it for another.

N. B.—Professor Harbrecht, take notice.

Mr. Morrison Fights for Representation in School League

Mr. Morrison, the athletic director and manager of the high school football team, was present at a meeting of all the athletic representatives of the different high schools of the city at the Board of Commerce Thursday afternoon September 25. He attended this meeting to try and enter the University of Detroit High in the City League, which includes every high school of note in the city. He was determined in find out the reason why the U. of D. Hi should not be admitted to this league. When his turn came Mr. Morrison took the stand and explained to the officials his reasons for being present. The representative of Northwestern High School urged the objection that if the U. of D. Hi was admitted every other sectarian school in the city would have to be admitted. This objection was immediately answered by Mr. Morrison, who replied that the U. of D. High was the only school in the city which had shown the necessary qualifications. After a lengthy discussion it was proposed to put the matter to a vote. Objections were again urged against this idea, and it was decided to postpone the case until the next meeting, which will take place in the near future.

(Heard at blackboard quiz of the high football team):

Coach Sweeny (to rather dense footballer): "Now, buddy, look at this number 23. Tell me, which is the last digit of that number?"

Dense Footballer: "???"
Coach Sweeny (in disgust): "Say, buddy, do you take mathematics in this school?"

Dense Footballer: "Yes, sir."
Coach Sweeny (still disgusted): "Who is your Prof?"

Dense Footballer (beaming): "Mr. Sweeny, sir."

University High Union Organized

To Foster Spirit and Arouse Interest Among Student Body; Nolan President

The year 1919 marks the beginning of a new organization in the U. of D. High School. It will be called the University Hi Union. This Union will be operated on the same principles as the Detroit Union, which embraces all departments of the College. The purpose of this organization is to foster spirit in the high school and to arouse interest among the student body. The officers for the season of 1919-1920 were elected at a meeting held on September 5. Frank Nolan, a tackle on the high school football team, was chosen as president. John Hogue was elected to the office of secretary and treasurer, and the board of control consists of Bob Savage, captain of the Hi team; Leonard Bauman, an end on the Hi team, and Allen Devine. Mr. Morrison was unanimously chosen by the officers as faculty supervisor. Some of the affairs planned for the coming year are Glee Club concerts under the direction of Mr. Ryan, and theatrical events under direction of Mr. Koehler. The student body is highly enthused over the Union, and the outlook for a successful year is rosy, to say the least.

It really is queer. Y'know, they's some of us as is good at it and some as ain't. It's just as Bill Shakespeare said, y'know, the flatter the plate the fewer the soup.

GARLAND

Simple Action Range

Burns Gas, Coal or Wood

A combination range that meets the modern need for a compact kitchen range which will burn both coal and gas satisfactorily. It bakes, broils or cooks with either fuel or both, and will give you the service you rightfully expect from any Garland product.

Most Satisfactory Combination Range for Use in the Modern Kitchen

Takes the place of two ranges—gives the convenience and speed of gas and also retains all the usefulness of a coal range.
