Information produced by RefWorks on the new Write – N – Cite:

New Versions of Write-N-Cite Now Available!
Jan 04, 2013

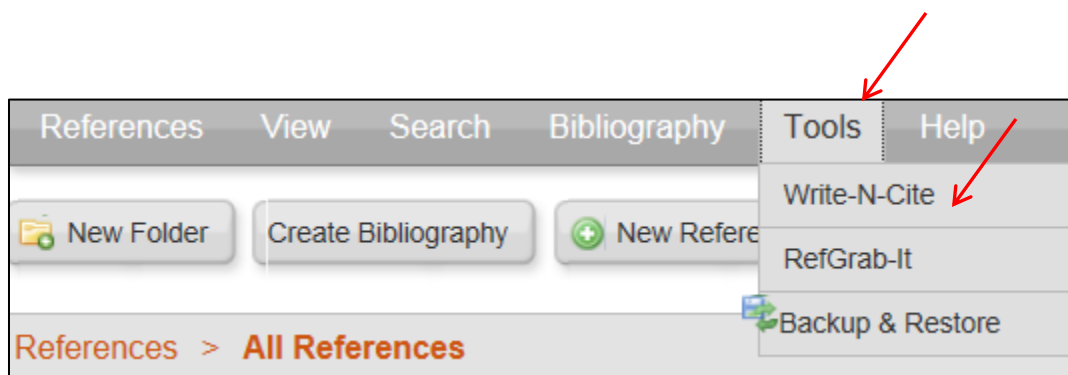

Check out the newest version of Write-N-Cite for Windows and Mac available now. This version includes the following:

New Features:

1. Significant improvement to syncing of references with RefWorks accounts.
2. Removal of 2000 citation limit
3. Improved User Interface for insert/edit citation.
4. Relocation of the Reapply Output Style from the Preferences area to the main toolbar.
5. Auto-updating messaging improved and updated.

To download Write-N-Cite on your computer:

In RefWorks, click Tools, Click Write-N-Cite.

Click Write-N-Cite for Word or Write-N-Cite for \(Mac\).

Click Save File.

Computer will download the new Write-N-Cite:

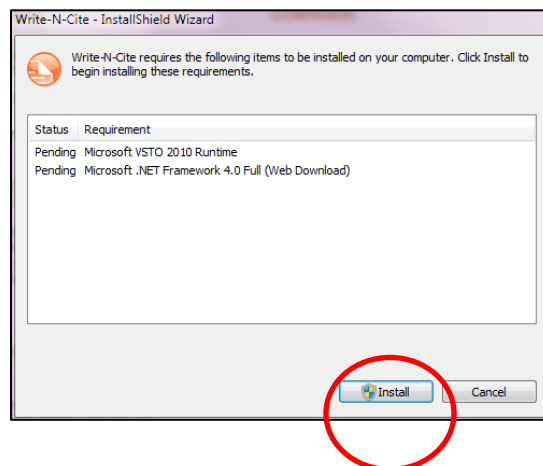

Double click the top file:

Click Run.

Click Install.

Follow the directions: click Next.

Go back to the original Write-N-Cite screen, copy the Login Code.

Paste Log In code. Now you should not have to use the University's group code to login.

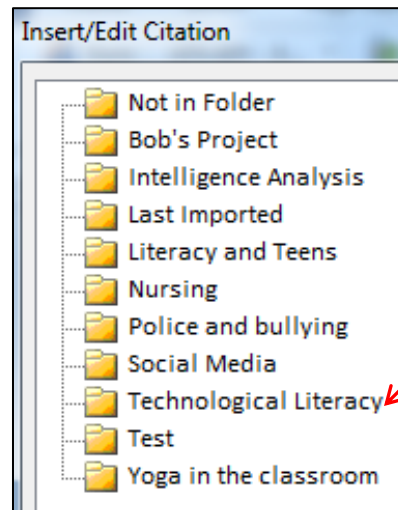

As you type your paper and want to insert a footnote, click the RefWorks tab in Word, (1) click Insert Citation, (2) click Insert New

I recommend that you open RefWorks before you begin your typing your paper.
Also make sure the Style is set for APA 6th.

Click the file with your citations—in this case Technological Literacy.
